Kia ora e te whānau,

Student course selection

Students are selecting their courses for 2025 during tutorials this week. It might seem like a no brainer but these decisions have a big impact on student learning due to motivation, clarity about the connection with their future and perceived challenge during the year. Please talk with your young person at home about why they think the courses they want to do next year are important. If you want to feedback to tutors about your young person's thinking about their selections, this week is a great time to do that.

As You Like It

This is a big week for the Performing Arts department and the students performing Shakespeare's "As You Like It" at the Pumphouse Theatre in Takapuna. There are evening performances on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday. Please support the students by purchasing a ticket and going along for a great evening.
